

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

VOL. 3--NO. 176.

MAYSVILLE, KY., FRIDAY, JUNE 20, 1884.

PRICE ONE CENT.

TIME TABLE KENTUCKY CENTRAL R. R.

STATIONS	Expt Leave Sunday	Arrive except Sundays	No. & Sundays
Live. Mayville,	5:45 a.m.	12:55 p.m.	115 p.m.
Ar. Lexington,	9:45 a.m.	6:00 p.m.	11:30 p.m.
Ar. Winchester,	10:45 a.m.	6:00 p.m.	11:30 p.m.
Ar. Covington,	11:45 a.m.	6:00 p.m.	11:30 p.m.
Live. Covington	12:45 a.m.	6:00 p.m.	11:30 p.m.
Live. Winch's	1:45 a.m.	7:00 p.m.	11:30 p.m.
Live. Paris	2:45 a.m.	7:00 p.m.	11:30 p.m.
Ar. Mayville,	3:45 a.m.	7:00 p.m.	11:30 p.m.

For rates of information apply to S. F. E. Morse, division passenger agent, Covington, Ky., or W. C. Seidler, agent, Mayville, Ky.

A SPEECH BY GEN. LOGAN

In Which He Tells Why Mr. Blaine Was Nominated.

A Letter Shewing Why the Independents Object to Blaine.

Ohio Democratic Outlook--Indian Republicans--Hendricks a Candidate for Governor--Thurman Not in the Race.

$11,950
IN CASH
GIVEN AWAY

To the SMOKERS of Blackwell's Genuine
Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco.

The genuine has picture of BULL on every package.

For particulars see our next announcement.

T. J. CURLEY,
Sanitary Plumber,
Gas & Steam Fitter,

new system of House Draining and Ventilation. Bath rooms fitted up with cold water a specialty. Also a large supply of

Iron, Lead and Stone Pipe,

Globe Angle and Check Valves, water and Steam Gauges, Forces and Lift Pumps, Gas
Burners, Gas Stoves, Brass and Copper Pipe.
Personal attention given to all work and selections. Call at 11, J. T. CURLEY,
Second street above Market, opposite Madison's, Mayville, Ky.

SIMON'S
Medicated Well-Water.

A Specific for DYSPERPSIA and DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS.

HAS been used with most gratifying success in many obstinate cases. Prof. F.
W. Clark, professor of Chemistry at the University of Pennsylvania, and the author of the same class with that of the Allegheny
School of Medicine, has written to me that
it which is too well known to be stated here.
Those who desire to try this famous water
will find it at the office of G. J. RAIFE,
in half barrel, $1.00 per gallon. G. J. RAIFE, Gros. Captain, C. M. Holloway, Cincinnati,
Ohio, J. T. Raife, Cincinnati, Ohio. For sale
in half barrels.

GUS. SIMMONS, Proprietor,
Mayville, Ky.

WONDERFUL
Botanic Medicine.

DR. T. A. DUTTON'S Vegetable Discovery,

is recommended to all who are suffering from
any disease of the kidneys, bladder, heart,
liver, lungs, &c. It cures Fever and Aches, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Dyspepsia, Fevers of all kinds, Consumption, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Female Complaints, Skin Diseases,
and all diseases arising from impurity of the blood.

I have secured the exclusive agency for the State of Kentucky and have placed it on the market.

Mrs. ANNA FRAZER,
MRS. MARGARET DORSEY.

NEW FIRM,
BISSET, McCCLANAHAN & SHEA,

(Successors to Cooper & Bissell.)

Dealers in Stoves, Ranges, Marbleized Tables, Washboards, Household Utensils,
Copper and Sheet Iron Ware.

Special attention paid to iron roofing, gutters
and spouting. Practical plumbers, gas
and steam fitters. Wrought iron and lead pipes,
etc. Work attended to promptly and afforded.

28 E. Second st., Mayville, Ky.

CHARLES W. TUDOR, CONTRACTOR AND BUILDER

Having had many years experience in every branch of his business and having built some
of the best buildings in Kentucky and Tennessee,
the citizens of Mayville and surrounding country that is now permanently located in the city of Mayville, I am now engaged in carrying on my business here. I have done a great deal of work done in this line. Star building of every character. I speak from personal experience. Will promptly attend
to City residence, Ebenezer's point, Pine Ward, Mayville, Ky.

10th Street, Mayville, Ky.

MOS. DAULTON & BRO.,
GOOD INTENT
Livery and Sale Stable

A full line of all kinds of vehicles on hand
for sale, hire or exchange. Horses kept by day, week or month. Largest and best apparatus for driving. Best attention to vehicles of every kind. Price reasonable. Telephone connection No. 49 and 50. Second St., apdly
MAYSVILLE, KY.

arch commands and people obey. With us
the people are the monarchs who issue
edict and those people are to be obeyed [Applause]. Through all of this time we have no Generals to follow; they have no
commanding officers; they command themselves. [Applause.] And let me say that the men as well as women who came to us
are those who either belong to us, and who are unwilling to go along with us, they will be found standing up
the wayside when the procession has passed
by [Applause].

It is evident to me I have almost betrayed
myself into speaking beyond an agreeing
of your kindness in this gressing
of the citizens of Bangor. I again return
thanks to the citizens.

At 12 o'clock, 40--Blaine and party
arrived here at 10:45 to-night by a Pull man train. All were driven to Mr.
Blaine's residence, where they will remain.
General Logan and Senator and Mrs.
Hale leave for Washington to-morrow morning.

Thomas Sherman, Mr. Blaine's private secretary, is expected to arrive Friday.

John B. Elkins and wife, of New Mexico, arrived this afternoon, and were driven to the residence of Mr. Blaine,
whose guests they are. They will remain
in the city several days.

Alleged Inside Facts.

CLEVELAND, O., June 20.—A session was created here to-night by the publication of the following article in the Press:

During the session of the Republican Convention, the representative of the Press learned that J. A. Kitzmiller, delegate from the Gettysburg (Pa.) district, was in possession of a secret document given to him
by Curtis to affect the election. Independents
were free-traders, and opposed to Blaine principally because he is a strong protectionist. An interview with Kitzmiller at the Chicago Convention disclosed the subject, although he had not received a letter from Curtis. During the latter part of the convention Kitz-
miller developed into a strong Blaine supporter, and, as a result of the letter writer.

GUTTYSBURG, Pa., June 16, 1884.

Henry A. Griffin, Penny Press:

I do not regard the letter of Mr. Curtis to John B. Elkins as a secret. On the 8th of March last I was at Curtis inquiring about the political situation in New York. He answered as follows:

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night, and I have no
objection to their doing so. Mr. Blaine could be
nominated for the Presidency."

"The independent of New York hold
a meeting to-night,

THE DAILY BULLETIN.

FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 20, 1884.

ROSSER & McCARTHY

Publishers and Proprietors,
TO WHOM ADDRESS ALL COMMUNICATIONS

Now, look here boys,
No need to point,
Beane o' they fired you
Up the spout;
But I'll tell you down
And peg away.
You'll like 'em yet
Some other day.

The Boyd Manufacturing Company, at Ripley use their own wharfboat.

The high school examination yesterday passed off very satisfactorily.

The Dudes have cut down their collars now wearing crapes on their arms.

An iron bridge to be erected near Germantown has been received at Augusta.

The Dudes will play a game of ball with the Red Jackets, at Murphyville, June 27th.

YESTERDAY was the hottest day of the season. The mercury stood at 98 degrees in the shade.

The Maysvilles defeated the Dudes, yesterday, by a score of nine to three. Five innings were played.

The work of removing Washington Hall preparatory to the erection of the new opera house will begin next week.

A MOVE is on foot to establish a building association in Chester. The project is well received and the chances are very favorable to its success.

Mr. SAMUEL MURPHY, who lived near Brooksville, was found dead in his bed a few days ago. He possessed an estate worth about $3,000, and so far as known has no heirs.

At the recent drawing of the Louisiana lottery, No. 86,440 drew the capital prize of $150,000; No. 53,770, the second prize of $50,000; and No. 27,870, the third prize of $20,000.

If you expect to get ahead of D. Daniel in the matter of early fruits and vegetables, you will have to get up decidedly soon in the morning. East Maysville is as enterprising as any other part of the town.

As the Louisville Commercial is a Republican newspaper it ought not to talk to this way: Blaine denied that he will take the stump. But what does that matter? Blaine denied that he took the Mulligan letters.

The following marriages have been solemnized in Brown County, Ohio, during the past week:

David Brabb and Minnie N. Bailey,
W. H. Bell and Tolobeth H. Huey,
P. C. Brown and Elizabeth Greene,
Jos. J. Heindrichs and Tressa E. Snyder.

A PHILADELPHIA despatch says a conference is reported to have taken place in that city between August Belmont, W. H. Travers and Samuel Josephs, a prominent Philadelphia Randall man, with a view to boom Bayard for President.

DR. ANDERSON will preach in the Southern Methodist Church, to-morrow at 11 o'clock, a.m.; also Sabbath morning and evening, this being the last quarterly meeting for this conference year. Dr. Anderson fills the place of Dr. Fitch, the Presiding Elder.

Building Contract.

The contract for building the Southern Presbyterian Church, on Third street, has been awarded to Messrs. Samuel Chunn and G. M. Williams. The contract does not include the foundation or the main auditorium.

THE Lexington Daily News, which is generally a pretty close observer of things, says: "Lightning struck a couple of cows at Maysville the other day, killing them instantly. If lightning were to strike a couple of thousand hogs in that city it would be a good thing for the community."

A TELEGRAM has just been received from Mr. J. W. Watson, who is now at Cincinnati, which says that he has selected the fire works to be used here on the nights of the third and fourth of July and has contracted with a competent pyrotechnist to take charge of the matter. The display will be a very grand one and our friends in the country should make a point to be here to see it.

Sales of Land.

The following transfers of real estate have been recorded at the office of the County Clerk, since our last report:

Turner Brandt and wife to James A. Curtis, se. of Mill Creek; consideration, $1,000. Nancy Jackson and husband to L. C. Collier, for lot 10, block 1, on north side of Second street, Fifth Ward; consideration, $1,000. John Murphy and wife to Wm. O'Mara, west half of lot No. 46 in Fifth Ward of Maysville, lot No. 89 in Woodville; consideration, $200.

Masonic Excursion.

Twelve Sir Knights and five ladies, Mrs. George Simonds, Mrs. Anna Case, of Bloomington, Ill., Miss Tina Bledsoe, Miss Anna Heiser and Miss Ada Coons, accompanied by Haucke's band, left at noon on Thursday on board the steamer Handy No. 2, to visit Calvary Commandery No. 10, K. T., at Portsmouth. The band enlivened the trip with music at each landing place on the way up and at intervals during the journey. Arriving at Portsmouth at 7:30 p.m., the Knights and ladies were met by Calvary Commandery with carriages and escorted through the streets to the asylum of the commandery where they were welcomed in an address by Sir Knight Warner. After the address, the speaker in behalf of the Templar masons of several commanderies, presented to Past Eminent Commander Johnson, a check for $500 as a testimonial to him on account of his exertions to relieve sufferers during the late flood. The Sir Knights then adjourned to a banquet hall where were witnessed such parts as could be made public of the ceremonies of conferring the order of the Red Cross on five postulants. The ceremonies were beautiful and impressive. The first regular toast of the evening, "Maysville Commandery No. 10," was responded to by Sir Knight W. P. Coons, of this city. The next toast, "Chillicothe Commandery," was appropriately acknowledged, after which Past Eminent Commander Johnson was presented with a jewel by his commandery. The next regular toast, "the ladies and our duty to them," was responded to by Sir Knight George R. Gill, of Maysville, in a very happy effort. Rev. Dr. Burr, an Episcopal clergyman and for many years an enthusiastic Mason and Knight, on invitation of the commandery, made some beautiful remarks concerning the force and beauty of truth as illustrated in the Red Cross Knight. Most Excellent Grand Prelate Horace January then, on behalf of the Knights of Maysville, extended to the Knights of Calvary and their lady friends an invitation to attend the annual banquet at this city next November, which was unanimously accepted. The festivities were kept up until daylight and altogether it was a royal occasion.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. Mannen is better to-day.

Mrs. Levi, of Cincinnati, is the guest of the family of Mr. S. Simon.

Mr. Wm. Willocks has just returned from an extended tour through Michigan.

Mrs. J. D. Kehoe and son will leave on Saturday to visit Mrs. J. W. Ishamel at Mt. Olivet.

Hon. J. Q. Ward, candidate for Judge of the superior Court, was in Maysville, yesterday, on his way to Lewis County.

Judge J. P. Harbeson is in Maysville, to-day. He is in fine spirits and considers the congressional outlook very encouraging to him.

Mrs. Ramsey, of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Van Duzen and daughter, of Ironton, Ohio, are visiting the family of Mr. Andrew Hunter of East Maysville.

The marriage of Miss Matilda Dixon, of Ripley, to Mr. Milner Brown, of Bloomington, Ill., will be solemnized in the residence of the bride's parents at that place on the 24th inst.

We hear that Mr. M. J. Chase, of Richmond, Ind., has decided to discontinue business there and remove to Michigan. His friends would be pleased to welcome him back to Maysville.

Miss Annie K. Broadwell, of Ironton, was married to Mr. Charles Greenwood, of this city, at the M. E. Church parsonage, at Ironton, on the 18th inst. They have the congratulations and good wishes of their many friends in this city.

His Mistake.
Merchant Taveler.

A gentleman on East Fourth street found a ragged tramp sitting on his front steps and his chair.

"Here! What are you doing there?" he shouted.

"Partaking of a slight lunch. Will you join me?" the tramp politely replied.

"No; I don't want any of your villainous feed."

"That's so; it is pretty tough kind of fodder. I just got it out of your kitchen. Your wife must be doing her own cooking."

"What's that, you infernal hound?" exclaimed the angry man, starting toward the tramp, still sitting quietly on the step.

"Don't get excited, sir; don't get excited, think a minute. Aren't you mistaken in calling me a hound?"

"No, I'm not; and I'll—"

"But, my dear sir, you are mistaken; I am no hound, I'm a settler."

The gentleman gazed at the tramp in admiration and left him to finish his lunch.

In reference to the Republican candidates and platform the Springfield (Mass.) Republican says: "The party presents the spectacle of a dishonest candidate on a dishonest platform."

FAYETTE County has lately deposited fifteen of her citizens in the State lock up.

CITY ITEMS.

Troy Langdon's City Butter Crackers.

Blaine and Logan badges at Phister's.

Boy's low-cut shoes 75 cents a pair at noon on Thursday on board the steamer Handy No. 2, to visit Calvary Commandery No. 10, K. T., at Portsmouth. The band enlivened the trip with music at each landing place on the way up and at intervals during the journey. Arriving at Portsmouth at 7:30 p.m., the Knights and ladies were met by Calvary Commandery with carriages and escorted through the streets to the asylum of the commandery where they were welcomed in an address by Sir Knight Warner.

After the address, the speaker in behalf of the Templar masons of several commanderies, presented to Past Eminent Commander Johnson, a check for $500 as a testimonial to him on account of his exertions to relieve sufferers during the late flood. The Sir Knights then adjourned to a banquet hall where were witnessed such parts as could be made public of the ceremonies of conferring the order of the Red Cross on five postulants. The ceremonies were beautiful and impressive. The first regular toast of the evening, "Maysville Commandery No. 10," was responded to by Sir Knight W. P. Coons, of this city. The next toast, "Chillicothe Commandery," was appropriately acknowledged, after which Past Eminent Commander Johnson was presented with a jewel by his commandery. The next regular toast, "the ladies and our duty to them," was responded to by Sir Knight George R. Gill, of Maysville, in a very happy effort. Rev. Dr. Burr, an Episcopal clergyman and for many years an enthusiastic Mason and Knight, on invitation of the commandery, made some beautiful remarks concerning the force and beauty of truth as illustrated in the Red Cross Knight. Most Excellent Grand Prelate Horace January then, on behalf of the Knights of Maysville, extended to the Knights of Calvary and their lady friends an invitation to attend the annual banquet at this city next November, which was unanimously accepted. The festivities were kept up until daylight and altogether it was a royal occasion.

TRY Langdon's City Butter Crackers.

Blaine and Logan badges at Phister's.

Boy's low-cut shoes 75 cents a pair at noon on Thursday on board the steamer Handy No. 2, to visit Calvary Commandery No. 10, K. T., at Portsmouth. The band enlivened the trip with music at each landing place on the way up and at intervals during the journey. Arriving at Portsmouth at 7:30 p.m., the Knights and ladies were met by Calvary Commandery with carriages and escorted through the streets to the asylum of the commandery where they were welcomed in an address by Sir Knight Warner.

After the address, the speaker in behalf of the Templar masons of several commanderies, presented to Past Eminent Commander Johnson, a check for $500 as a testimonial to him on account of his exertions to relieve sufferers during the late flood. The Sir Knights then adjourned to a banquet hall where were witnessed such parts as could be made public of the ceremonies of conferring the order of the Red Cross on five postulants. The ceremonies were beautiful and impressive. The first regular toast of the evening, "Maysville Commandery No. 10," was responded to by Sir Knight W. P. Coons, of this city. The next toast, "Chillicothe Commandery," was appropriately acknowledged, after which Past Eminent Commander Johnson was presented with a jewel by his commandery. The next regular toast, "the ladies and our duty to them," was responded to by Sir Knight George R. Gill, of Maysville, in a very happy effort. Rev. Dr. Burr, an Episcopal clergyman and for many years an enthusiastic Mason and Knight, on invitation of the commandery, made some beautiful remarks concerning the force and beauty of truth as illustrated in the Red Cross Knight. Most Excellent Grand Prelate Horace January then, on behalf of the Knights of Maysville, extended to the Knights of Calvary and their lady friends an invitation to attend the annual banquet at this city next November, which was unanimously accepted. The festivities were kept up until daylight and altogether it was a royal occasion.

TRY Langdon's City Butter Crackers.

Blaine and Logan badges at Phister's.

Boy's low-cut shoes 75 cents a pair at noon on Thursday on board the steamer Handy No. 2, to visit Calvary Commandery No. 10, K. T., at Portsmouth. The band enlivened the trip with music at each landing place on the way up and at intervals during the journey. Arriving at Portsmouth at 7:30 p.m., the Knights and ladies were met by Calvary Commandery with carriages and escorted through the streets to the asylum of the commandery where they were welcomed in an address by Sir Knight Warner.

After the address, the speaker in behalf of the Templar masons of several commanderies, presented to Past Eminent Commander Johnson, a check for $500 as a testimonial to him on account of his exertions to relieve sufferers during the late flood. The Sir Knights then adjourned to a banquet hall where were witnessed such parts as could be made public of the ceremonies of conferring the order of the Red Cross on five postulants. The ceremonies were beautiful and impressive. The first regular toast of the evening, "Maysville Commandery No. 10," was responded to by Sir Knight W. P. Coons, of this city. The next toast, "Chillicothe Commandery," was appropriately acknowledged, after which Past Eminent Commander Johnson was presented with a jewel by his commandery. The next regular toast, "the ladies and our duty to them," was responded to by Sir Knight George R. Gill, of Maysville, in a very happy effort. Rev. Dr. Burr, an Episcopal clergyman and for many years an enthusiastic Mason and Knight, on invitation of the commandery, made some beautiful remarks concerning the force and beauty of truth as illustrated in the Red Cross Knight. Most Excellent Grand Prelate Horace January then, on behalf of the Knights of Maysville, extended to the Knights of Calvary and their lady friends an invitation to attend the annual banquet at this city next November, which was unanimously accepted. The festivities were kept up until daylight and altogether it was a royal occasion.

TRY Langdon's City Butter Crackers.

Blaine and Logan badges at Phister's.

Boy's low-cut shoes 75 cents a pair at noon on Thursday on board the steamer Handy No. 2, to visit Calvary Commandery No. 10, K. T., at Portsmouth. The band enlivened the trip with music at each landing place on the way up and at intervals during the journey. Arriving at Portsmouth at 7:30 p.m., the Knights and ladies were met by Calvary Commandery with carriages and escorted through the streets to the asylum of the commandery where they were welcomed in an address by Sir Knight Warner.

After the address, the speaker in behalf of the Templar masons of several commanderies, presented to Past Eminent Commander Johnson, a check for $500 as a testimonial to him on account of his exertions to relieve sufferers during the late flood. The Sir Knights then adjourned to a banquet hall where were witnessed such parts as could be made public of the ceremonies of conferring the order of the Red Cross on five postulants. The ceremonies were beautiful and impressive. The first regular toast of the evening, "Maysville Commandery No. 10," was responded to by Sir Knight W. P. Coons, of this city. The next toast, "Chillicothe Commandery," was appropriately acknowledged, after which Past Eminent Commander Johnson was presented with a jewel by his commandery. The next regular toast, "the ladies and our duty to them," was responded to by Sir Knight George R. Gill, of Maysville, in a very happy effort. Rev. Dr. Burr, an Episcopal clergyman and for many years an enthusiastic Mason and Knight, on invitation of the commandery, made some beautiful remarks concerning the force and beauty of truth as illustrated in the Red Cross Knight. Most Excellent Grand Prelate Horace January then, on behalf of the Knights of Maysville, extended to the Knights of Calvary and their lady friends an invitation to attend the annual banquet at this city next November, which was unanimously accepted. The festivities were kept up until daylight and altogether it was a royal occasion.

TRY Langdon's City Butter Crackers.

Blaine and Logan badges at Phister's.

Boy's low-cut shoes 75 cents a pair at noon on Thursday on board the steamer Handy No. 2, to visit Calvary Commandery No. 10, K. T., at Portsmouth. The band enlivened the trip with music at each landing place on the way up and at intervals during the journey. Arriving at Portsmouth at 7:30 p.m., the Knights and ladies were met by Calvary Commandery with carriages and escorted through the streets to the asylum of the commandery where they were welcomed in an address by Sir Knight Warner.

After the address, the speaker in behalf of the Templar masons of several commanderies, presented to Past Eminent Commander Johnson, a check for $500 as a testimonial to him on account of his exertions to relieve sufferers during the late flood. The Sir Knights then adjourned to a banquet hall where were witnessed such parts as could be made public of the ceremonies of conferring the order of the Red Cross on five postulants. The ceremonies were beautiful and impressive. The first regular toast of the evening, "Maysville Commandery No. 10," was responded to by Sir Knight W. P. Coons, of this city. The next toast, "Chillicothe Commandery," was appropriately acknowledged, after which Past Eminent Commander Johnson was presented with a jewel by his commandery. The next regular toast, "the ladies and our duty to them," was responded to by Sir Knight George R. Gill, of Maysville, in a very happy effort. Rev. Dr. Burr, an Episcopal clergyman and for many years an enthusiastic Mason and Knight, on invitation of the commandery, made some beautiful remarks concerning the force and beauty of truth as illustrated in the Red Cross Knight. Most Excellent Grand Prelate Horace January then, on behalf of the Knights of Maysville, extended to the Knights of Calvary and their lady friends an invitation to attend the annual banquet at this city next November, which was unanimously accepted. The festivities were kept up until daylight and altogether it was a royal occasion.

TRY Langdon's City Butter Crackers.

Blaine and Logan badges at Phister's.

Boy's low-cut shoes 75 cents a pair at noon on Thursday on board the steamer Handy No. 2, to visit Calvary Commandery No. 10, K. T., at Portsmouth. The band enlivened the trip with music at each landing place on the way up and at intervals during the journey. Arriving at Portsmouth at 7:30 p.m., the Knights and ladies were met by Calvary Commandery with carriages and escorted through the streets to the asylum of the commandery where they were welcomed in an address by Sir Knight Warner.

After the address, the speaker in behalf of the Templar masons of several commanderies, presented to Past Eminent Commander Johnson, a check for $500 as a testimonial to him on account of his exertions to relieve sufferers during the late flood. The Sir Knights then adjourned to a banquet hall where were witnessed such parts as could be made public of the ceremonies of conferring the order of the Red Cross on five postulants. The ceremonies were beautiful and impressive. The first regular toast of the evening, "Maysville Commandery No. 10," was responded to by Sir Knight W. P. Coons, of this city. The next toast, "Chillicothe Commandery," was appropriately acknowledged, after which Past Eminent Commander Johnson was presented with a jewel by his commandery. The next regular toast, "the ladies and our duty to them," was responded to by Sir Knight George R. Gill, of Maysville, in a very happy effort. Rev. Dr. Burr, an Episcopal clergyman and for many years an enthusiastic Mason and Knight, on invitation of the commandery, made some beautiful remarks concerning the force and beauty of truth as illustrated in the Red Cross Knight. Most Excellent Grand Prelate Horace January then, on behalf of the Knights of Maysville, extended to the Knights of Calvary and their lady friends an invitation to attend the annual banquet at this city next November, which was unanimously accepted. The festivities were kept up until daylight and altogether it was a royal occasion.

TRY Langdon's City Butter Crackers.

Blaine and Logan badges at Phister's.

Boy's low-cut shoes 75 cents a pair at noon on Thursday on board the steamer Handy No. 2, to visit Calvary Commandery No. 10, K. T., at Portsmouth. The band enlivened the trip with music at each landing place on the way up and at intervals during the journey. Arriving at Portsmouth at 7:30 p.m., the Knights and ladies were met by Calvary Commandery with carriages and escorted through the streets to the asylum of the commandery where they were welcomed in an address by Sir Knight Warner.

After the address, the speaker in behalf of the Templar masons of several commanderies, presented to Past Eminent Commander Johnson, a check for $500 as a testimonial to him on account of his exertions to relieve sufferers during the late flood. The Sir Knights then adjourned to a banquet hall where were witnessed such parts as could be made public of the ceremonies of conferring the order of the Red Cross on five postulants. The ceremonies were beautiful and impressive. The first regular toast of the evening, "Maysville Commandery No. 10," was responded to by Sir Knight W. P. Coons, of this city. The next toast, "Chillicothe Commandery," was appropriately acknowledged, after which Past Eminent Commander Johnson was presented with a jewel by his commandery. The next regular toast, "the ladies and our duty to them," was responded to by Sir Knight George R. Gill, of Maysville, in a very happy effort. Rev. Dr. Burr, an Episcopal clergyman and for many years an enthusiastic Mason and Knight, on invitation of the commandery, made some beautiful remarks concerning the force and beauty of truth as illustrated in the Red Cross Knight. Most Excellent Grand Prelate Horace January then, on behalf of the Knights of Maysville, extended to the Knights of Calvary and their lady friends an invitation to attend the annual banquet at this city next November, which was unanimously accepted. The festivities were kept up until daylight and altogether it was a royal occasion.

TRY Langdon's City Butter Crackers.

Blaine and Logan badges at Phister's.

Boy's low-cut shoes 75 cents a pair at noon on Thursday on board the steamer Handy No. 2, to visit Calvary Commandery No. 10, K. T., at Portsmouth. The band enlivened the trip with music at each landing place on the way up and at intervals during the journey. Arriving at Portsmouth at 7:30 p.m., the Knights and ladies were met by Calvary Commandery with carriages and escorted through the streets to the asylum of the commandery where they were welcomed in an address by Sir Knight Warner.

After the address, the speaker in behalf of the Templar masons of several commanderies, presented to Past Eminent Commander Johnson, a check for $500 as a testimonial to him on account of his exertions to relieve sufferers during the late flood. The Sir Knights then adjourned to a banquet hall where were witnessed such parts as could be made public of the ceremonies of conferring the order of the Red Cross on five postulants. The ceremonies were beautiful and impressive. The first regular toast of the evening, "Maysville Commandery No. 10," was responded to by Sir Knight W. P. Coons, of this city. The next toast, "Chillicothe Commandery," was appropriately acknowledged, after which Past Eminent Commander Johnson was presented with a jewel by his commandery. The next regular toast, "the ladies and our duty to them," was responded to by Sir Knight George R. Gill, of Maysville, in a very happy effort. Rev. Dr. Burr, an Episcopal clergyman and for many years an enthusiastic Mason and Knight, on invitation of the commandery, made some beautiful remarks concerning the force and beauty of truth as illustrated in the Red Cross Knight. Most Excellent Grand Prelate Horace January then, on behalf of the Knights of Maysville, extended to the Knights of Calvary and their lady friends an invitation to attend the annual banquet at this city next November, which was unanimously accepted. The festivities were kept up until daylight and altogether it was a royal occasion.

TRY Langdon's City Butter Crackers.

Blaine and Logan badges at Phister's.

Boy's low-cut shoes 75 cents a pair at noon on Thursday on board the steamer Handy No. 2, to visit Calvary Commandery No. 10, K. T., at Portsmouth. The band enlivened the trip with music at each landing place on the way up and at intervals during the journey. Arriving at Portsmouth at 7:30 p.m., the Knights and ladies were met by Calvary Commandery with carriages and escorted through the streets to the asylum of the commandery where they were welcomed in an address by Sir Knight Warner.

After the address, the speaker in behalf of the Templar masons of several commanderies, presented to Past Eminent Commander Johnson, a check for $500 as a testimonial to him on account of his exertions to relieve sufferers during the late flood. The Sir Knights then adjourned to a banquet hall where were witnessed such parts as could be made public of the ceremonies of conferring the order of the Red Cross on five postulants. The ceremonies were beautiful and impressive. The first regular toast of the evening, "Maysville Commandery No. 10," was responded to by Sir Knight W. P. Coons, of this city. The next toast, "Chillicothe Commandery," was appropriately acknowledged, after which Past Eminent Commander Johnson was presented with a jewel by his commandery. The next regular toast, "the ladies and our duty to them," was responded to by Sir Knight George R. Gill, of Maysville, in a very happy effort. Rev. Dr. Burr, an Episcopal clergyman and for many years an enthusiastic Mason and Knight, on invitation of the commandery, made some beautiful remarks concerning the force and beauty of truth as illustrated in the Red Cross Knight. Most Excellent Grand Prelate Horace January then, on behalf of the Knights of Maysville, extended to the Knights of Calvary and their lady friends an invitation to attend the annual banquet at this city next November, which was unanimously accepted. The festivities were kept up until daylight and altogether it was a royal occasion.

TRY Langdon's City Butter Crackers.

Blaine and Logan badges at Phister's.

Boy's low-cut shoes 75 cents a pair at noon on Thursday on board the steamer Handy No. 2, to visit Calvary Commandery No. 10, K. T., at Portsmouth. The band enlivened the trip with music at each landing place on the way up and at intervals during the journey. Arriving at Portsmouth at 7:30 p.m., the Knights and ladies were met by Calvary Commandery with carriages and escorted through the streets to the asylum of the commandery where they were welcomed in an address by Sir Knight Warner.

After the address, the speaker in behalf of the Templar masons of several commanderies, presented to Past Eminent Commander Johnson, a check for $500 as a testimonial to him on account of his exertions to relieve sufferers during the late flood. The Sir Knights then adjourned to a banquet hall where were witnessed such parts as could be made public of the ceremonies of conferring the order of the Red Cross on five postulants. The ceremonies were beautiful and impressive. The first regular toast of the evening, "Maysville Commandery No. 10," was responded to by Sir Knight W. P. Coons, of this city. The next toast, "Chillicothe Commandery," was appropriately acknowledged, after which Past Eminent Commander Johnson was presented with a jewel by his commandery. The next regular toast, "the ladies and our duty to them," was responded to by Sir Knight George R. Gill, of Maysville, in a very happy effort. Rev. Dr. Burr, an Episcopal clergyman and for many years an enthusiastic Mason and Knight, on invitation of the commandery, made some beautiful remarks concerning the force and beauty of truth as illustrated in the Red Cross Knight. Most Excellent Grand Prelate Horace January then, on behalf of the Knights of Maysville, extended to the Knights of Calvary and their lady friends an invitation to attend the annual banquet at this city next November, which was unanimously accepted. The festivities were kept up until daylight and altogether it was a royal occasion.

TRY Langdon's City Butter Crackers.

Blaine and Logan badges at Phister's.

Boy's low-cut shoes 75 cents a pair at noon on Thursday on board the steamer Handy No. 2, to visit Calvary Commandery No. 10, K. T., at Portsmouth. The band enlivened the trip with music at each landing place on the way up and at intervals during the journey. Arriving at Portsmouth at 7:30 p.m., the Knights and ladies were met by Calvary Commandery with carriages and escorted through the streets to the asylum of the commandery where they were welcomed in an address by Sir Knight Warner.

After the address, the speaker in behalf of the Templar masons of several commanderies, presented to Past Eminent Commander Johnson, a check for $500 as a testimonial to him on account of his exertions to relieve sufferers during the late flood. The Sir Knights then adjourned to a banquet hall where were witnessed such parts as could be made public of the ceremonies of conferring the order of the Red Cross on five postulants. The ceremonies were beautiful and impressive. The first regular toast of the evening, "Maysville Commandery No. 10," was responded to by Sir Knight W. P. Coons, of this city. The next toast, "Chillicothe Commandery," was appropriately acknowledged, after which Past Eminent Commander Johnson was presented with a jewel by his commandery. The next regular toast, "the ladies and our duty to them," was responded to by Sir Knight George R. Gill, of Maysville, in a very happy effort. Rev. Dr. Burr, an Episcopal clergyman and for many years an enthusiastic Mason and Knight, on invitation of the commandery, made some beautiful remarks concerning the force and beauty of truth as illustrated in the Red Cross Knight. Most Excellent Grand Prelate Horace January then, on behalf of the Knights of Maysville, extended to the Knights of Calvary and their lady friends an invitation to attend the annual banquet at this city next November, which was unanimously accepted. The festivities were kept up until daylight and altogether it was a royal occasion.

TRY Langdon's City Butter Crackers.

Blaine and Logan badges at Phister's.

Boy's low-cut shoes 75 cents a pair at noon on Thursday on board the steamer Handy No. 2, to visit Calvary Commandery No. 10, K. T., at Portsmouth. The band enlivened the trip with music at each landing place on the way up and at intervals during the journey. Arriving at Portsmouth at 7:30 p.m., the Knights and ladies were met by Calvary Commandery with carriages and escorted through the streets to the asylum of the commandery where they were welcomed in an address by Sir Knight Warner.

After the address, the speaker in behalf of the Templar masons of several commanderies, presented to Past Eminent Commander Johnson, a check for $500 as a testimonial to him on account of his exertions to relieve sufferers during the late flood. The Sir Knights then adjourned to a banquet hall where were witnessed such parts as could be made public of the ceremonies of conferring the order of the Red Cross on five postulants. The ceremonies were beautiful and impressive. The first regular toast of the evening, "Maysville Commandery No. 10," was responded to by Sir Knight W. P. Coons, of this city. The next toast, "Chillicothe Commandery," was appropriately acknowledged, after which Past Eminent Commander Johnson was presented with a jewel by his commandery. The next regular toast, "the ladies and our duty to them," was responded to by Sir Knight George R. Gill, of Maysville, in a very happy effort. Rev. Dr. Burr, an Episcopal clergyman and for many years an enthusiastic Mason and Knight, on invitation of the commandery, made some beautiful remarks concerning the force and beauty of truth as illustrated in the Red Cross Knight. Most Excellent Grand Prelate Horace January then, on behalf of the Knights of Maysville, extended to the Knights of Calvary and their lady friends an invitation to attend the annual banquet at this city next November, which was unanimously accepted. The festivities were kept up until daylight and altogether it was a royal occasion.

TRY Langdon's City Butter Crackers.

Blaine and Logan badges at Phister's.

Boy's low-cut shoes 75 cents a pair at noon on Thursday on board the steamer Handy No. 2, to visit Calvary Commandery No. 10, K. T., at Portsmouth. The band enlivened the trip with music at each landing place on the way up and at intervals during the journey. Arriving at Portsmouth at 7:30 p.m., the Knights and ladies were met by Calvary Commandery with carriages and escorted through the streets to the asylum of the commandery where they were welcomed in an address by Sir Knight Warner.

After the address, the speaker in behalf of the Templar masons of several commanderies, presented to Past Eminent Commander Johnson, a check for $500 as a testimonial to him on account of his exertions to relieve sufferers during the late flood. The Sir Knights then adjourned to a banquet hall where were witnessed such parts as could be made public of the ceremonies of conferring the order of the Red Cross on five postulants. The ceremonies were beautiful and impressive. The first regular toast of the evening, "Maysville Commandery No. 10," was responded to by Sir Knight W. P. Coons, of this city. The next toast, "Chillicothe Commandery," was appropriately acknowledged, after which Past Eminent Commander Johnson was presented with a jewel by his commandery. The next regular toast, "the ladies and our duty to them," was responded to by Sir Knight George R. Gill, of Maysville, in a very happy effort. Rev. Dr. Burr, an Episcopal clergyman and for many years an enthusiastic Mason and Knight, on invitation of the commandery, made some beautiful remarks concerning the force and beauty of truth as illustrated in the Red Cross Knight. Most Excellent Grand Prelate Horace January then, on behalf of the Knights of Maysville, extended to the Knights of Calvary and their lady friends an invitation to attend the annual banquet at this city next November, which was unanimously accepted. The festivities were kept up until daylight and altogether it was a royal occasion.

TRY Langdon's City Butter Crackers.

Blaine and Logan badges at Phister's.

Boy's low-cut shoes 75 cents a pair at noon on Thursday on board the steamer Handy No. 2, to visit Calvary Commandery No. 10, K. T., at Portsmouth. The band enlivened the trip with music at each landing place on the way up and at intervals during the journey. Arriving at Portsmouth at 7:30 p.m., the Knights and ladies were met by Calvary Commandery with carriages and escorted through the streets to the asylum of the commandery where they were welcomed in an address by Sir Knight Warner.

After the address, the speaker in behalf of the Templar masons of several commanderies, presented to Past Eminent Commander Johnson, a check for $500 as a testimonial to him on account of his exertions to relieve sufferers during the late flood. The Sir Knights then adjourned to a banquet hall where were witnessed such parts as could be made public of the ceremonies of conferring the order of the Red Cross on five postulants. The ceremonies were beautiful and impressive. The first regular toast of the evening, "Maysville Commandery No. 10," was responded to by Sir Knight W. P. Coons, of this city. The next toast, "Chillicothe Commandery," was appropriately acknowledged, after which Past Eminent Commander Johnson was presented with a jewel by his commandery. The next regular toast, "the ladies and our duty to them," was responded to by Sir Knight George R. Gill, of Maysville, in a very happy effort. Rev. Dr. Burr, an Episcopal clergyman and for many years an enthusiastic Mason and Knight, on invitation of the commandery, made some beautiful remarks concerning the force and beauty of truth as illustrated in the Red Cross Knight. Most Excellent Grand Prelate Horace January then, on behalf of the Knights of Maysville, extended to the Knights of Calvary and their lady friends an

LOST HUSBAND'S RETURN

After Criminally Neglecting His Family 35 Years.

His Wife Twice Met—Not During His Absence, Both His Husbands Dying
—The Profound Desires
Not Explain.

MUNCIE, Ind., June 20.—A veritable case of Enoch Arden has just developed here. In 1849 there were from this city a party of twenty-six men, California, with the intent of finding their fortune in the gold mines just discovered. They were all well-educated citizens, most of whom, after two or three years' fairly successful operations, returned to their wives and families. Among them was one who was less successful, who left behind a loving wife and two children, a son and daughter. About 1852 he sent them a sum of money, since which time nothing was heard of him. He was supposed to have died, and up to this time his estate was settled, as was also that of his father, who died wealthy some time afterward. To be on the safe side of the law his wife obtained a divorce, and in 1857 she married to Horatio Wilcoxson, who was later killed in his saw mill. She was thus again left alone, and not long afterward was married to another man, John Joseph Veach. Two years ago he was called away by the hand of death, and she found herself mourning her third husband. With what feelings she oft revisited the scenes of her early life, and thought of him, her first love, how so mysteriously disappeared from her no one can tell. She hoped, perhaps, that years might bring him back. During all this time Velma Wilson, an old maid and a friend of his, would not be satisfied that he was dead. Last November, while confined to her room with rheumatism, as a matter of pastime, she sent a number of letters to Oregon and elsewhere in quest of him. One letter was sent to Wailing. Presumably one of these fell into Wailing's hands, he being Deputy Postmaster at Wathering, Oregon, to which office the letter was sent. He read it with particular interest, and, as he could not find any record of him, wrote to Velma Wilson, who continued to correspond with him, and finally pursued him to return home. He came yesterday to this city, which he left thirty-five years ago, and was cordially received by all. The forty-year-old man had been in town but a short time when his son, then a mere babe, now almost forty years of age, drove town and took him to the home where lived his wife and young son. It is therefore predicted that they will be re-united in marriage, and soon end their days as they once began, together.

VICTIM OF THUGS.

Although It Did Seem That He Took All Possible Precautions.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 19.—Albert Mayernos, of Minneapolis, Minn., left the Astor House in New York yesterday for home. He had $3,500 and publicly divided before leaving the house, putting $300 in his waistcoat pocket, $100 in his coat pocket, and $100 in his coat pocket, where he pinned it in. He took the Cortlandt street ferry for the West Shore train. He saw two men on the boat and again on the cars who were in the habit of exposing their members. Upon nearing Kingston the men began playing three-card monte. Mayernos held aloof from the game, but consented to change money for the gamblers. As he did so, one of the men snatched his coat and one grabbed his $300. In the scuffle his waistcoat was cut open, and the $300 extracted therefrom. An alarm was raised, but the men left the train at Washington. Mayernos, however, who was not in police there, and in his affidavit came on here and related his story to the police with tears in his eyes. Chief Wright advised him to go back to New York and lay claim to his money. He did so, and on the 9:30 a. m. train to-day on the Central road for New York. Mayernos has a good mind picture of the men.

THE MARKETS.

General.

New York, June 19.—Wheat—Unchanged. Wheat—No. 2 red winter, July, 10½; Corn—No. 2 mixed, July, 63¢c; Oats—No. 2 mixed, July, 37½¢c. Rye—Canada, 72¢; 75½¢c. Barley—Nominal. Pork—Old world—$10.75. Lard—7.08¢c. Butter—Wheat—$1.00. Eggs—C. S. State choice, 17½¢c; Western, 16½¢c; 17¢c. Sugar—Refined, cut loaf, 73¢c. Coffee—Rio, ordinary car-goes, 9½¢c.

New Orleans, June 19.—Pork—115 65¢c. Cut meat—Shoulder, 63¢c. Bacon—Shoulders, 63¢c; clear rib, 10¢c. Ham—13¢; 13½¢c. Sugar—Fully fair, 4¢c; to fair, 40¢c; 44¢c; prime, 43¢c. Molasses—10¢c. Rum—Centrifugal, 17½¢c. Whisky—$1.10 per gallon.

MILWAUKEE, June 19.—Wheat—July, 69¢c; August, 70¢c. Corn—62¢c. Oats—32¢c. Rye—61¢c. Barley—61¢c.

TORONTO, June 19.—Wheat—No. 2 red, cash—66¢c; June, 68¢c; July, 91¢c; cash—68¢c; No. 2 soft, 61¢c.

Corn—High mixed, 58¢c; No. 2, 60¢c; June, 57¢c; July, 58¢c; August, 59¢c; rejected, 56¢c; no grade, 46¢c.

CINCINNATI, June 19.—Cotton—Middling, 11½¢c. Flour—Family, $4.30¢c. Spring wheat—$1.00. Corn—No. 2, 60¢c. Oats—No. 2, 32¢c. Rye—No. 2, 48¢c. Wheat—24¢c. Lard—Dried kettle, 8¢c. Bacon—Shoulders, 63¢c; prime, Sugar-cured ham, 84¢c; 12¢c. Pieced bellies, 8¢c; 12¢c.

Liv. Stock.

CHICAGO, June 19.—Hogs—Fair to good light, #4 90¢c; 50¢; mixed packing, $3.10¢; 53; choice heavy, $3.40¢; 70. Cattle—Exports, $50¢; 75; good to choice shipper, $50¢; 75. Sheep—Infant to fair, $2.35; 45; 50¢; 60. Sheep—Sheep inferior to fair, $2.35; 40; choices to extra, $4.00¢; 50.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Cattle—Common to prime—$1.00. Hogs sold at $3.00¢; 40; 50; 55; choice heavy, $3.40¢; 70. Cattle—Exports, $50¢; 75; good to choice shipper, $50¢; 75. Sheep—Infant to fair, $2.35; 45; 50¢; 60. Sheep inferior to fair, $2.35; 40; choices to extra, $4.00¢; 50.

Front Street, Maysville.

FRANK R. PHISTER.

PHISTER is making a specialty of Picture Framing. The work is warranted first-class and the very lowest rates charged. He has always in stock a large supply of Engravings, Chromos, etc. Old Frames revarnished, regilded, gilded, etc., general work of the kind done on the shortest notice. Call and inspect the stock.

PHISTER will guarantee these prices on Croquet:

Four ball, in box.....	$1.00
Balls, in box.....	5¢ to $1.50
Balls from.....	5¢ to 20
Eight ball, in box.....	1.50
Eight ball, in box.....	3.00
Eight ball, in box.....	6.00
All first-class only, and worth the money.

PHISTER is selling a very fine line of Ball Goods.

Balls from.....	5¢ to $1.50
Balls from.....	5¢ to 20
Caps, each.....	5

PHISTER has a little Paper Room that sells for one cent each. It is a three-cornered piece of paper and is so arranged that by making suddenly a downward motion it cracks like a pistol. It is perfectly harmless and can be used repeatedly. It may be used if desired. A large stock of Marbles, etc., at prices that will surprise you.

PHISTER has a little Paper Room that sells for one cent each. It is a three-cornered piece of paper and is so arranged that by making suddenly a downward motion it cracks like a pistol. It is perfectly harmless and can be used repeatedly. It may be used if desired. A large stock of Marbles, etc., at prices that will surprise you.

BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

KELLEY & MOORE'S Celebrated GRECIAN ARCH SHOES AND SLIPPERS.

A Full assortment of these well-known Goods for Ladies, Misses and Children, at

C. S. MINER & BRO.'S RELIABLE SHOE HOUSE,

MAYSVILLE, KY.

WALTER BLATTERMAN.

Designer and importer of—

ITALIAN MARBLE,

Scotch and American

GRANITE MONUMENTS

Office: Hill House.

Estimates given on work and designs turn'd or gotten up free of charge. I have employed Mr. J. A. McCANN, who has had experience in this line, and am satisfied with his work.

The morning was joyful, both expressing the greatest delight at seeing each other. He said that in all his time of absence his love for his wife and children had been stronger than his desire to spend his money on his own pleasure. It is therefore predicted that they will be re-united in marriage, and soon end their days as they once began, together.

Although It Did Seem That He Took All Possible Precautions.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 19.—Albert Mayernos, of Minneapolis, Minn., left the Astor House in New York yesterday for home. He had $3,500 and publicly divided before leaving the house, putting $300 in his waistcoat pocket, $100 in his coat pocket, and $100 in his coat pocket, where he pinned it in. He took the Cortlandt street ferry for the West Shore train. He saw two men on the boat and again on the cars who were in the habit of exposing their members.

Upon nearing Kingston the men began playing three-card monte. Mayernos held aloof from the game, but consented to change money for the gamblers.

As he did so, one of the men snatched his coat and one grabbed his $300. In the scuffle his waistcoat was cut open, and the $300 extracted therefrom.

An alarm was raised, but the men left the train at Washington.

Mayernos, however, who was not in police there, and in his affidavit came on here and related his story to the police with tears in his eyes.

Chief Wright advised him to go back to New York and lay claim to his money.

He did so, and on the 9:30 a. m. train to-day on the Central road for New York. Mayernos has a good mind picture of the men.

Although It Did Seem That He Took All Possible Precautions.

New Orleans, June 19.—Pork—115 65¢c. Cut meat—Shoulder, 63¢c. Bacon—Shoulders, 63¢c; clear rib, 10¢c. Ham—13¢; 13½¢c. Sugar—Fully fair, 4¢c; to fair, 40¢c; 44¢c; prime, 43¢c. Molasses—10¢c. Rum—Centrifugal, 17½¢c. Whisky—$1.10 per gallon.

MILWAUKEE, June 19.—Wheat—July, 69¢c; August, 70¢c. Corn—62¢c. Oats—32¢c. Rye—61¢c. Barley—61¢c.

TORONTO, June 19.—Wheat—No. 2 red, cash—66¢c; June, 68¢c; July, 91¢c; cash—68¢c; No. 2 soft, 61¢c.

Corn—High mixed, 58¢c; No. 2, 60¢c; June, 57¢c; July, 58¢c; August, 59¢c; rejected, 56¢c; no grade, 46¢c.

CINCINNATI, June 19.—Cotton—Middling, 11½¢c. Flour—Family, $4.30¢c. Spring wheat—$1.00. Corn—No. 2, 60¢c.

Wheat—24¢c. Lard—Dried kettle, 8¢c. Bacon—Shoulders, 63¢c; prime, Sugar-cured ham, 84¢c; 12¢c. Pieced bellies, 8¢c; 12¢c.

Front Street, Maysville.

After Criminally Neglecting His Family 35 Years.

His Wife Twice Met—Not During His Absence, Both His Husbands Dying
—The Profound Desires
Not Explain.

MUNCIE, Ind., June 20.—A veritable case of Enoch Arden has just developed here. In 1849 there were from this city a party of twenty-six men, California, with the intent of finding their fortune in the gold mines just discovered. They were all well-educated citizens, most of whom, after two or three years' fairly successful operations, returned to their wives and families. Among them was one who was less successful, who left behind a loving wife and two children, a son and daughter. About 1852 he sent them a sum of money, since which time nothing was heard of him. He was supposed to have died, and up to this time his estate was settled, as was also that of his father, who died wealthy some time afterward. To be on the safe side of the law his wife obtained a divorce, and in 1857 she married to Horatio Wilcoxson, who was later killed in his saw mill. She was thus again left alone, and not long afterward was married to another man, John Joseph Veach. Two years ago he was called away by the hand of death, and she found herself mourning her third husband. With what feelings she oft revisited the scenes of her early life, and thought of him, her first love, how so mysteriously disappeared from her no one can tell. She hoped, perhaps, that years might bring him back. During all this time Velma Wilson, an old maid and a friend of his, would not be satisfied that he was dead. Last November, while confined to her room with rheumatism, as a matter of pastime, she sent a number of letters to Oregon and elsewhere in quest of him. One letter was sent to Wailing. Presumably one of these fell into Wailing's hands, he being Deputy Postmaster at Wathering, Oregon, to which office the letter was sent. He read it with particular interest, and, as he could not find any record of him, wrote to Velma Wilson, who continued to correspond with him, and finally pursued him to return home. He came yesterday to this city, which he left thirty-five years ago, and was cordially received by all. The forty-year-old man had been in town but a short time when his son, then a mere babe, now almost forty years of age, drove town and took him to the home where lived his wife and young son. It is therefore predicted that they will be re-united in marriage, and soon end their days as they once began, together.

Although It Did Seem That He Took All Possible Precautions.

HIS Wife Twice Met—Not During His Absence, Both His Husbands Dying
—The Profound Desires
Not Explain.

MUNCIE, Ind., June 20.—A veritable case of Enoch Arden has just developed here. In 1849 there were from this city a party of twenty-six men, California, with the intent of finding their fortune in the gold mines just discovered. They were all well-educated citizens, most of whom, after two or three years' fairly successful operations, returned to their wives and families. Among them was one who was less successful, who left behind a loving wife and two children, a son and daughter. About 1852 he sent them a sum of money, since which time nothing was heard of him. He was supposed to have died, and up to this time his estate was settled, as was also that of his father, who died wealthy some time afterward. To be on the safe side of the law his wife obtained a divorce, and in 1857 she married to Horatio Wilcoxson, who was later killed in his saw mill. She was thus again left alone, and not long afterward was married to another man, John Joseph Veach. Two years ago he was called away by the hand of death, and she found herself mourning her third husband. With what feelings she oft revisited the scenes of her early life, and thought of him, her first love, how so mysteriously disappeared from her no one can tell. She hoped, perhaps, that years might bring him back. During all this time Velma Wilson, an old maid and a friend of his, would not be satisfied that he was dead. Last November, while confined to her room with rheumatism, as a matter of pastime, she sent a number of letters to Oregon and elsewhere in quest of him. One letter was sent to Wailing. Presumably one of these fell into Wailing's hands, he being Deputy Postmaster at Wathering, Oregon, to which office the letter was sent. He read it with particular interest, and, as he could not find any record of him, wrote to Velma Wilson, who continued to correspond with him, and finally pursued him to return home. He came yesterday to this city, which he left thirty-five years ago, and was cordially received by all. The forty-year-old man had been in town but a short time when his son, then a mere babe, now almost forty years of age, drove town and took him to the home where lived his wife and young son. It is therefore predicted that they will be re-united in marriage, and soon end their days as they once began, together.

Although It Did Seem That He Took All Possible Precautions.

HIS Wife Twice Met—Not During His Absence, Both His Husbands Dying
—The Profound Desires
Not Explain.

MUNCIE, Ind., June 20.—A veritable case of Enoch Arden has just developed here. In 1849 there were from this city a party of twenty-six men, California, with the intent of finding their fortune in the gold mines just discovered. They were all well-educated citizens, most of whom, after two or three years' fairly successful operations, returned to their wives and families. Among them was one who was less successful, who left behind a loving wife and two children, a son and daughter. About 1852 he sent them a sum of money, since which time nothing was heard of him. He was supposed to have died, and up to this time his estate was settled, as was also that of his father, who died wealthy some time afterward. To be on the safe side of the law his wife obtained a divorce, and in 1857 she married to Horatio Wilcoxson, who was later killed in his saw mill. She was thus again left alone, and not long afterward was married to another man, John Joseph Veach. Two years ago he was called away by the hand of death, and she found herself mourning her third husband. With what feelings she oft revisited the scenes of her early life, and thought of him, her first love, how so mysteriously disappeared from her no one can tell. She hoped, perhaps, that years might bring him back. During all this time Velma Wilson, an old maid and a friend of his, would not be satisfied that he was dead. Last November, while confined to her room with rheumatism, as a matter of pastime, she sent a number of letters to Oregon and elsewhere in quest of him. One letter was sent to Wailing. Presumably one of these fell into Wailing's hands, he being Deputy Postmaster at Wathering, Oregon, to which office the letter was sent. He read it with particular interest, and, as he could not find any record of him, wrote to Velma Wilson, who continued to correspond with him, and finally pursued him to return home. He came yesterday to this city, which he left thirty-five years ago, and was cordially received by all. The forty-year-old man had been in town but a short time when his son, then a mere babe, now almost forty years of age, drove town and took him to the home where lived his wife and young son. It is therefore predicted that they will be re-united in marriage, and soon end their days as they once began, together.

Although It Did Seem That He Took All Possible Precautions.

HIS Wife Twice Met—Not During His Absence, Both His Husbands Dying
—The Profound Desires
Not Explain.

MUNCIE, Ind., June 20.—A veritable case of Enoch Arden has just developed here. In 1849 there were from this city a party of twenty-six men, California, with the intent of finding their fortune in the gold mines just discovered. They were all well-educated citizens, most of whom, after two or three years' fairly successful operations, returned to their wives and families. Among them was one who was less successful, who left behind a loving wife and two children, a son and daughter. About 1852 he sent them a sum of money, since which time nothing was heard of him. He was supposed to have died, and up to this time his estate was settled, as was also that of his father, who died wealthy some time afterward. To be on the safe side of the law his wife obtained a divorce, and in 1857 she married to Horatio Wilcoxson, who was later killed in his saw mill. She was thus again left alone, and not long afterward was married to another man, John Joseph Veach. Two years ago he was called away by the hand of death, and she found herself mourning her third husband. With what feelings she oft revisited the scenes of her early life, and thought of him, her first love, how so mysteriously disappeared from her no one can tell. She hoped, perhaps, that years might bring him back. During all this time Velma Wilson, an old maid and a friend of his, would not be satisfied that he was dead. Last November, while confined to her room with rheumatism, as a matter of pastime, she sent a number of letters to Oregon and elsewhere in quest of him. One letter was sent to Wailing. Presumably one of these fell into Wailing's hands, he being Deputy Postmaster at Wathering, Oregon, to which office the letter was sent. He read it with particular interest, and, as he could not find any record of him, wrote to Velma Wilson, who continued to correspond with him, and finally pursued him to return home. He came yesterday to this city, which he left thirty-five years ago, and was cordially received by all. The forty-year-old man had been in town but a short time when his son, then a mere babe, now almost forty years of age, drove town and took him to the home where lived his wife and young son. It is therefore predicted that they will be re-united in marriage, and soon end their days as they once began, together.

Although It Did Seem That He Took All Possible Precautions.

HIS Wife Twice Met—Not During His Absence, Both His Husbands Dying
—The Profound Desires
Not Explain.

MUNCIE, Ind., June 20.—A veritable case of Enoch Arden has just developed here. In 1849 there were from this city a party of twenty-six men, California, with the intent of finding their fortune in the gold mines just discovered. They were all well-educated citizens, most of whom, after two or three years' fairly successful operations, returned to their wives and families. Among them was one who was less successful, who left behind a loving wife and two children, a son and daughter. About 1852 he sent them a sum of money, since which time nothing was heard of him. He was supposed to have died, and up to this time his estate was settled, as was also that of his father, who died wealthy some time afterward. To be on the safe side of the law his wife obtained a divorce, and in 1857 she married to Horatio Wilcoxson, who was later killed in his saw mill. She was thus again left alone, and not long afterward was married to another man, John Joseph Veach. Two years ago he was called away by the hand of death, and she found herself mourning her third husband. With what feelings she oft revisited the scenes of her early life, and thought of him, her first love, how so mysteriously disappeared from her no one can tell. She hoped, perhaps, that years might bring him back. During all this time Velma Wilson, an old maid and a friend of his, would not be satisfied that he was dead. Last November, while confined to her room with rheumatism, as a matter of pastime, she sent a number of letters to Oregon and elsewhere in quest of him. One letter was sent to Wailing. Presumably one of these fell into Wailing's hands, he being Deputy Postmaster at Wathering, Oregon, to which office the letter was sent. He read it with particular interest, and, as he could not find any record of him, wrote to Velma Wilson, who continued to correspond with him, and finally pursued him to return home. He came yesterday to this city, which he left thirty-five years ago, and was cordially received by all. The forty-year-old man had been in town but a short time when his son, then a mere babe, now almost forty years of age, drove town and took him to the home where lived his wife and young son. It is therefore predicted that they will be re-united in marriage, and soon end their days as they once began, together.

Although It Did Seem That He Took All Possible Precautions.

HIS Wife Twice Met—Not During His Absence, Both His Husbands Dying
—The Profound Desires
Not Explain.

MUNCIE, Ind., June 20.—A veritable case of Enoch Arden has just developed here. In 1849 there were from this city a party of twenty-six men, California, with the intent of finding their fortune in the gold mines just discovered. They were all well-educated citizens, most of whom, after two or three years' fairly successful operations, returned to their wives and families. Among them was one who was less successful, who left behind a loving wife and two children, a son and daughter. About 1852 he sent them a sum of money, since which time nothing was heard of him. He was supposed to have died, and up to this time his estate was settled, as was also that of his father, who died wealthy some time afterward. To be on the safe side of the law his wife obtained a divorce, and in 1857 she married to Horatio Wilcoxson, who was later killed in his saw mill. She was thus again left alone, and not long afterward was married to another man, John Joseph Veach. Two years ago he was called away by the hand of death, and she found herself mourning her third husband. With what feelings she oft revisited the scenes of her early life, and thought of him, her first love, how so mysteriously disappeared from her no one can tell. She hoped, perhaps, that years might bring him back. During all this time Velma Wilson, an old maid and a friend of his, would not be satisfied that he was dead. Last November, while confined to her room with rheumatism, as a matter of pastime, she sent a number of letters to Oregon and elsewhere in quest of him. One letter was sent to Wailing. Presumably one of these fell into Wailing's hands, he being Deputy Postmaster at Wathering, Oregon, to which office the letter was sent. He read it with particular interest, and, as he could not find any record of him, wrote to Velma Wilson, who continued to correspond with him, and finally pursued him to return home. He came yesterday to this city, which he left thirty-five years ago, and was cordially received by all. The forty-year-old man had been in town but a short time when his son, then a mere babe, now almost forty years of age, drove town and took him to the home where lived his wife and young son. It is therefore predicted that they will be re-united in marriage, and soon end their days as they once began, together.

Although It Did Seem That He Took All Possible Precautions.

HIS Wife Twice Met—Not During His Absence, Both His Husbands Dying
—The Profound Desires
Not Explain.

MUNCIE, Ind., June 20.—A veritable case of Enoch Arden has just developed here. In 1849 there were from this city a party of twenty-six men, California, with the intent of finding their fortune in the gold mines just discovered. They were all well-educated citizens, most of whom, after two or three years' fairly successful operations, returned to their wives and families. Among them was one who was less successful, who left behind a loving wife and two children, a son and daughter. About 1852 he sent them a sum of money, since which time nothing was heard of him. He was supposed to have died, and up to this time his estate was settled, as was also that of his father, who died wealthy some time afterward. To be on the safe side of the law his wife obtained a divorce, and in 1857 she married to Horatio Wilcoxson, who was later killed in his saw mill. She was thus again left alone, and not long afterward was married to another man, John Joseph Veach. Two years ago he was called away by the hand of death, and she found herself mourning her third husband. With what feelings she oft revisited the scenes of her early life, and thought of him, her first love, how so mysteriously disappeared from her no one can tell. She hoped, perhaps, that years might bring him back. During all this time Velma Wilson, an old maid and a friend of his, would not be satisfied that he was dead. Last November, while confined to her room with rheumatism, as a matter of pastime, she sent a number of letters to Oregon and elsewhere in quest of him. One letter was sent to Wailing. Presumably one of these fell into Wailing's hands, he being Deputy Postmaster at Wathering, Oregon, to which office the letter was sent. He read it with particular interest, and, as he could not find any record of him, wrote to Velma Wilson, who continued to correspond with him, and finally pursued him to return home. He came yesterday to this city, which he left thirty-five years ago, and was cordially received by all. The forty-year-old man had been in town but a short time when his son, then a mere babe, now almost forty years of age, drove town and took him to the home where lived his wife and young son. It is therefore predicted that they will be re-united in marriage, and soon end their days as they once began, together.

Although It Did Seem That He Took All Possible Precautions.

HIS Wife Twice Met—Not During His Absence, Both His Husbands Dying
—The Profound Desires
Not Explain.

MUNCIE, Ind., June 20.—A veritable case of Enoch Arden has just developed here. In 1849 there were from this city a party of twenty-six men, California, with the intent of finding their fortune in the gold mines just discovered. They were all well-educated citizens, most of whom, after two or three years' fairly successful operations, returned to their wives and families. Among them was one who was less successful, who left behind a loving wife and two children, a son and daughter. About 1852 he sent them a sum of money, since which time nothing was heard of him. He was supposed to have died, and up to this time his estate was settled, as was also that of his father, who died wealthy some time afterward. To be on the safe side of the law his wife obtained a divorce, and in 1857 she married to Horatio Wilcoxson, who was later killed in his saw mill. She was thus again left alone, and not long afterward was married to another man, John Joseph Veach. Two years ago he was called away by the hand of death, and she found herself mourning her third husband. With what feelings she oft revisited the scenes of her early life, and thought of him, her first love, how so mysteriously disappeared from her no one can tell. She hoped, perhaps, that years might bring him back. During all this time Velma Wilson, an old maid and a friend of his, would not be satisfied that he was dead. Last November, while confined to her room with rheumatism, as a matter of pastime, she sent a number of letters to Oregon and elsewhere in quest of him. One letter was sent to Wailing. Presumably one of these fell into Wailing's hands, he being Deputy Postmaster at Wathering, Oregon, to which office the letter was sent. He read it with particular interest, and, as he could not find any record of him, wrote to Velma Wilson, who continued to correspond with him, and finally pursued him to return home. He came yesterday to this city, which he left thirty-five years ago, and was cordially received by all. The forty-year-old man had been in town but a short time when his son, then a mere babe, now almost forty years of age, drove town and took him to the home where lived his wife and young son. It is therefore predicted that they will be re-united in marriage, and soon end their days as they once began, together.

Although It Did Seem That He Took All Possible Precautions.

HIS Wife Twice Met—Not During His Absence, Both His Husbands Dying
—The Profound Desires
Not Explain.

MUNCIE, Ind., June 20.—A veritable case of Enoch Arden has just developed here. In 1849 there were from this city a party of twenty-six men, California, with the intent of finding their fortune in the gold mines just discovered. They were all well-educated citizens, most of whom, after two or three years' fairly successful operations, returned to their wives and families. Among them was one who was less successful, who left behind a loving wife and two children, a son and daughter. About 1852 he sent them a sum of money, since which time nothing was heard of him. He was supposed to have died, and up to this time his estate was settled, as was also that of his father, who died wealthy some time afterward. To be on the safe side of the law his wife obtained a divorce, and in 1857 she married to Horatio Wilcoxson, who was later killed in his saw mill. She was thus again left alone, and not long afterward was married to another man, John Joseph Veach. Two years ago he was called away by the hand of death, and she found herself mourning her third husband. With what feelings she oft revisited the scenes of her early life, and thought of him, her first love, how so mysteriously disappeared from her no one can tell. She hoped, perhaps, that years might bring him back. During all this time Velma Wilson, an old maid and a friend of his, would not be satisfied that he was dead. Last November, while confined to her room with rheumatism, as a matter of pastime, she sent a number of letters to Oregon and elsewhere in quest of him. One letter was sent to Wailing. Presumably one of these fell into Wailing's hands, he being Deputy Postmaster at Wathering, Oregon, to which office the letter was sent. He read it with particular interest, and, as he could not find any record of him, wrote to Velma Wilson, who continued to correspond with him, and finally pursued him to return home. He came yesterday to this city, which he left thirty-five years ago, and was cordially received by all. The forty-year-old man had been in town but a short time when his son, then a mere babe, now almost forty years of age, drove town and took him to the home where lived his wife and young son. It is therefore predicted that they will be re-united in marriage, and soon end their days as they once began, together.

Although It Did Seem That He Took All Possible Precautions.

HIS Wife Twice Met—Not During His Absence, Both His Husbands Dying
—The Profound Desires
Not Explain.

MUNCIE, Ind., June 20.—A veritable case of Enoch Arden has just developed here. In 1849 there were from this city a party of twenty-six men, California, with the intent of finding their fortune in the gold mines just discovered. They were all well-educated citizens, most of whom, after two or three years' fairly successful operations, returned to their wives and families. Among them was one who was less successful, who left behind a loving wife and two children, a son and daughter. About 1852 he sent them a sum of money, since which time nothing was heard of him. He was supposed to have died, and up to this time his estate was settled, as was also that of his father, who died wealthy some time afterward. To be on the safe side of the law his wife obtained a divorce, and in 1857 she married to Horatio Wilcoxson, who was later killed in his saw mill. She was thus again left alone, and not long afterward was married to another man, John Joseph Veach. Two years ago he was called away by the hand of death, and she found herself mourning her third husband. With what feelings she oft revisited the scenes of her early life, and thought of him, her first love, how so mysteriously disappeared from her no one can tell. She hoped, perhaps, that years might bring him back. During all this time Velma Wilson, an old maid and a friend of his, would not be satisfied that he was dead. Last November, while confined to her room with rheumatism, as a matter of pastime, she sent a number of letters to Oregon and elsewhere in quest of him. One letter was sent to Wailing. Presumably one of these fell into Wailing's hands, he being Deputy Postmaster at Wathering, Oregon, to which office the letter was sent. He read it with particular interest, and, as he could not find any record of him, wrote to Velma Wilson, who continued to correspond with him, and finally pursued him to return home. He came yesterday to this city, which he left thirty-five years ago, and was cordially received by all. The forty-year-old man had been in town but a short time when his son, then a mere babe, now almost forty years of age, drove town and took him to the home where lived his wife and young son. It is therefore predicted that they will be re-united in marriage, and soon end their days as they once began, together.